

About Old Time Religion

Dora tries to be a proper minister's wife, but she secretly would like to be the minister. She knows she could do it better than her husband, but she accepts her place. Meanwhile there's an alternative religious development right under her nose, and she is about to be drawn into it. This is the last short story in the Early Retirement series, and most of the women from the previous stories make a brief appearance. The story continues in slightly different form in the play, "Moon Waxing."